PROFILE

As a Front-end Developer, I am a beginner with over five months of operational experience. I have actively learned technologies such as JavaScript, React, Redux RTK, TypeScript, and Next.js.

In the future, I also plan to familiarize myself with database work and Back-end development. I have also had experience working with CMS WordPress by integrating and configuring plugins. I understand the basic architecture of applications and the principles of building, scaling, and expanding web applications.

I am always eager to learn and develop my skills in new areas. Currently, I am studying at the educational institution of the National Aviation University of Kyiv, specializing in Software Engineering, where I have mastered and gained a basic understanding of database work (T-SQL, SQL Server Management) and building Desktop applications (C#, C++, Windows Forms).
